Submission:

1. Do you think the proposed national plan will help better protect kauri from dieback disease?

1a. Do the rules proposed make sense and do you think they will be easy for people to comply with?
Are there additional rules that we need or have we gone too far?

1b. If people follow the rules, do you think that will reduce the spread of kauri dieback?

1c. What changes to the rules could we make so they work better to prevent kauri dieback spreading?

1d. Are there any major issues we have missed that we need to consider before the plan is finalised?

1e. Should the agency be required to zone all kauri forest areas by identifying which areas are infected with Phytophthora agathidicida (PA) and which are not (as far as this is known)? Or should the agency just identify areas of 'high risk'?

1f. Should the agency be able to designate areas as sanctuaries?

1g. Have we missed out any significant groups of kauri forest users or impacts the National Pest Management Plan for Kauri Dieback (NPMP) may have on them in our draft Impact Assessment table (available on the website)?

2. Should compensation for activities required under the NPMP be available? If yes, what activities should be compensated and under what circumstances?

3. Which of the two options proposed for a national agency (government department or not for profit company) do you think will be best for the future of kauri, and why?

3a. Are there other things you think the agency needs to do?

3b. What kind of community input should there be in the agency?

3c. What kind of people should be on any advisory or governance boards with what kind of backgrounds or experience?
